MEETING NOTES (BRAIN DUMP)

Me: I understand completely. I will personally escalate the billing error to our VP of Finance right after this call to get that refund processed today. And I will have the engineering lead finalize the RCA report and email it to you by 9 AM tomorrow. I also want to set up a quick 10-minute daily check-in for the rest of the week so you have direct updates from me.

Marcus: You better. Send me the calendar invite for those dailies. Talk to you tomorrow.

Here's a summary of recent follow-ups based on the available notes:

- Elena Rostova: A pricing proposal for 50 additional enterprise licenses (for their European office) will be sent by Friday morning. Also, dates for a celebratory lunch meeting with Elena and her CEO are pending and will be provided by the end of the day.
- Marcus Vance: Engineering will deliver an RCA report for the API outage by tomorrow morning, and a refund for the $2,000 invoice overcharge is being expedited. Daily 10-minute check-in calls are also scheduled to address his concerns.

Among these which one should I complete first under the priority, please help me build the road map

What is the RCA that Marcus Needs to know, to whom should i inform this with respect to my team members

According to the notes, the RCA (Root Cause Analysis) report for the API outage is what Marcus Vance needs. Engineering is finalizing it and it's due by 9:00 AM tomorrow.

HERE'S A SUGGESTED APPROACH FOR INFORMING MARCUS AND YOUR TEAM

1. Morning Tomorrow (after receiving the RCA):
   - Yourself: Review the RCA thoroughly.
   - Team Lead/Manager: Briefly share the key findings and proposed solutions with your manager so they're aware of the situation.
   - Marcus Vance: Schedule a brief call (15-20 minutes) to walk him through the RCA, explain the corrective actions being taken, and reaffirm your commitment to preventing future disruptions. Frame it as a proactive step to regain his trust.
2. During the call with Marcus:

Ask about your clients... (Enter to send, Shift+Enter for newline)
